

Veterans Protect Your Money

Scammers may use your Veteran or military connection to make an offer or message seem legitimate. Take a few extra minutes to verify who you're dealing with to help protect your money and personal information.

THEY WANT YOUR MONEY

Be cautious if someone asks you to pay upfront for a job opportunity or promises help accessing or increasing your benefits for a fee. outcome.

THEY WANT YOUR INFORMATION

Think twice before sharing sensitive personal or financial information in response to an unexpected call, text, or email.

THEY WANT AN ANSWER NOW

Pressure to pay, transfer money, or share information before you've had time to verify an offer is a reason to slow down.

THEY WANT TO USE YOUR VETERAN STATUS TO EARN TRUST

Words like "Veteran," "military," or "VA" don't automatically mean an offer is affiliated with the government.

PROTECT WHAT YOU'RE BUILDING

VERIFY THE SOURCE

Use contact information you find independently.

CHECK YOUR ACCOUNTS

Look for transactions you don't recognize.

REVIEW YOUR CREDIT REPORTS

Look for accounts or information that isn't yours.

REPORT FRAUD OR IDENTITY THEFT

Report it at ReportFraud.ftc.gov
Think someone is using your identity? Get recovery steps at IdentityTheft.gov.

When an offer involves your money or personal information, taking time to verify the details can help you make a more informed decision.
